5 Features to Look for in Veterinary Practice Management Software

INTRODUCTION

Developed in 1999, VIA was the first veterinary practice management software with DICOM and MWL integration. Our software has evolved to meet the demands of modern veterinary clinics. VIA integrates with most veterinary modalities, so you can customize your lab equipment without being tied down by your PMS. With easy inventory management, cloud storage and the ability to produce SOAP Notes and EMRs in just a few clicks, VIA will help you save time and overcome the challenges of running a successful veterinary practice. Let's take a look at five features that are helping VIA's clients offer superior veterinary services, attract new clients, and increase their revenue.

1. INTEGRATES WITH MOST VETERINARY MODALITIES

In the past, PMS developers designed their software so it could only be used with certain lab equipment. The reason? This approach forced veterinarians to purchase modalities from companies that had partnered with the PMS developer. At VIA, we believe that veterinarians should have options when purchasing lab equipment, which is why we designed our software to integrate with most lab modalities. This allows our clients to provide better patient care, and it saves them money because they can update their lab equipment without purchasing a new PMS or choosing from limited, price-inflated options.

2. INVENTORY AND INVOICE MANAGEMENT AND REPORTING

Most practice management software was designed to improve patient care by allowing veterinarians to save, modify, and retrieve medical records digitally. However, VIA's PMS is far more than a medical records database; our software ties medical notes to invoicing and invoicing to inventory. This not only simplifies the accounting process, but it also ensures that your clinic never runs out of essential inventory. What's more, you can produce sales and banking reports in just a few clicks. You can use these reports to identify ways to reduce your overhead, increase your revenue, and amplify your profits.

3. EASILY PRODUCE SOAP NOTES AND ELECTRONIC MEDICAL RECORDS

Perhaps the greatest benefit of using veterinary PMS is to save time. Some software is so cumbersome that it's actually quicker to handwrite SOAP Notes. With VIA, you can produce SOAP Notes in just a few clicks. After you create a template, you can populate it with your Electronic Medical Records in a matter of seconds. The result? A highly detailed, customized medical note, and a lot of extra time you would have wasted with an inferior PMS.

4. CUSTOMIZABLE SOAP NOTES AND REFERRAL LETTERS

Far too many PMS developers attempt to create a one-size-fits-all software. As a result, veterinarians cannot customize the interface and workflow to complement and improve their clinical processes. The programmers at VIA took a different approach by giving veterinarians a suite of customization options. You can modify your SOAP records to incorporate the terminology that you prefer. After you've collected your notes, VIA makes it easy to generate medical history or referral letters. Our software has several types of referral letters, and all you need to do is select the document and print.

5. AN ESTABLISHED REPUTATION FOR HIGH QUALITY AND RELIABILITY

As a veterinarian, you have plenty of options when choosing practice management software. It is important that you purchase your PMS from a developer who has a reputation for high quality and reliability. Far too many programs are riddled with bugs, and developers often misrepresent the capabilities of their PMS. If your vendor does not offer reliable customer service, then you might have to hire a programmer or scrap the entire PMS if you run into a problem. The best way to avoid this is to buy your PMS from an established company such as VIA. Our Technical Support team is available 24/7 to help you resolve issues related to software, hardware, or your entire network.
